LIVE STOCK NEWS.
Items of Interest to Stockmen, Gathered from Reliable Sources.

Texas Stockman: Stock cattle in New Mexico are held at $25 a head.

Globe (Ks.) Journal: It was the black cattle that took the prize money at the New Mexico fair.

Texas Stockman: It is said that black-leg will not trouble cattle if they are liberally supplied with salt.

Exchange: Breed good mares to good horses, and you need have no fears of the results. It is blood that tells in raising horses.

Exchange: American mares sold a short time since at San Antonio, Texas, at $18 to $26, and Spanish mares at $12. All unbroken.

Globe (Ks.) Journal: According to Dr. Paaren, glanders exist extensively in Montana, Dakota, Indian Territory, Arkansas and Texas.

Flagstaff Champion: The cattle chutes on the track are approaching completion, and will give facilities for shipping a large number of cattle during the fall.

Kansas City Record: Hunter, Evans & Slaughter will soon ship 12,000 head of cattle from New Kiowa, from the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservation.

Santa Fe New Mexican: During the past three months the Prairie Cattle Company has sold about 7,000 young heifers at prices ranging from $17 to $18 per head.

Exchange: The shipments of cattle from Victoria last year were over 80,000 head, but thus far this season there has been a marked decline in the number shipped.

Denver Tribune: Gov. Eaton and Hon. Dave Wyatt will feed from 500 to 1,000 head of steers the coming winter at the Governor's mammoth farm, near Greeley, in Weld county.

Colorado Live Stock Record: There are 2,200 head in one bunch going across the divide, destined for White River. In all there are about 7,000 head of cattle headed for Garfield county at the present time.

Kansas City Record: A cow belonging to Leander Sherman, Burdillville, R. I., four years old, gave birth on September 5th to three calves. All are doing well. The cow is a thoroughbred Ayrshire, sire same breed.

Texas Stockman: Blood will tell. In the Chicago market last month, improved stock from a western range were sold at $67 per head. The same day ordinary range steers sold for $34 per head. We need not draw the moral.

Caldwell Journal: Dodge City proposes to have a trail to the Pan Handle of Texas if it has to be built of steel. A rail trail is the only hope of the Texas calf man now, and the Dodge City outlet will be a good one to tie to.

Kansas City Record: Several Kansas and Nebraska farmers have lately been in Missouri looking for feeders. They have a great corn crop and they propose to convert it to beef and mutton. Western men's heads are getting level.

Rio Grande Republican: Tom Bell, formerly of Lincoln county, who is accused of stealing cattle from the Carizozo ranch three years ago, was arrested in Arizona. John Joy is serving five years in the penitentiary at Santa Fe for the same crime.

Florence Enterprise: Some man has been guilty of shooting cattle on the San Pedro, and he should be hunted down, and made to pay the severest penalty the law imposes. Messrs. Finch and Cunningham have both had fine animals shot recently.

Exchange: It is always well to pay attention to color in mating a team, as a fancy consideration, but size, and especially strength and action, are much more important in mating a team for usefulness, and to make a pleasant team to work and drive.

Texas Stockman: The greater part of the cattle have been removed from the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservation, but, according to best reports, they will not number over 175,000 head, instead of 300,000 as at first stated. What became of the other 125,000 head?

Texas Stockman: Horse breeding will pay, but it is a mistake to think that there is more money in raising trotters than general utility animals. There is too much risk and expense in raising trotters, while good half-breed horses of the Percheron, Clydesdal or Cleveland Bay stock will always find ready sale.

The Washington Farmer advertises free range in unlimited quantities in Washington Territory, and invites stockmen to bring their herds to eat the fine bunch grass that now annually rots on the ground. It says come without money and without price, and partake of the government's bounty.

Santa Fe New Mexican: The Lea Cattle Company, Anderson, Milne & Bush's beef herds, is on its way up from Roswell for shipment to Kansas City. There are between 700 and 800 head in the drove; Joe Laxton being boss of the drive. Quite a number of fine steers were left on the range, not being fat enough for shipment on account of the rains coming late.

Globe (Kansas) Journal: "The Cleveland drive" out of the Indian Territory is about completed for the season. The drive was an unusually large one which, with the coming year, will be largely increased. At this time it is very hard to estimate what it will be for the coming season, but it will be very large, counting the stock first driven into and then out of the "promised land."

Final Record: The San Pedro Cattle Company is the name of a new corporation organized under the laws of Missouri, and doing business on the San Pedro river, in this county. The capital stock is $300,000, divided into $100 shares. The principal men in the new company are Supervisor G. M. Williams, Z. Willard, and A. and N. Schuster. The company succeed to the business and take the cattle and ranches owned by A. Schuster & Co.

Southwestern Stockman: That there is such a thing as grading up range stock too high is becoming recognized as a fact by experienced ranchmen. An essential of a range animal is good rustling qualities, and these are found in the greatest perfection in the scrub. Enough fine blood to give a tolerable size only is found to meet the requirements of the west, and to return a better profit to the grower than the more aristocratic but lazier pure-bloods.

Hoof and Horn: Messrs. Shull & Austin, the well known livery men of Prescott, have shipped to Kansas City during the last week three car-loads of horses raised in Arizona—one car-load being from the ranch of Shull & Austin, another from the Gosper Horse and Cattle Company, and the third from the Hull ranch in the San Francisco mountains, which last named ranch has placed the shipment of some 800 head under the direction of Messrs. Shull & Austin. This is the first shipment of Arizona horses ever made east, and it is to be hoped that the enterprising gentlemen having it in charge will realize all they anticipate.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Exchange: In Phoenix, when a rough threatens a man's life, and makes an attempt to kill him, they lock up the assaulted party, probably to protect him.

Citizen: The belief is gaining ground that General Crook is carrying on the present Indian campaign to the best of his ability, but such a belief is not at all complimentary to his ability.

Tombstone: Governor Zulick is a very pleasant gentleman and is desirous of meeting men of both parties and consulting them upon matters of interest to the people of the whole Territory.

Record-Epithaph: James Crothers has been arrested at Aspen for a stage robbery committed near Phoenix, Ariz., November 17th, 1884. He was a pal of Joe Chambers, who is now in jail at Phoenix for the same offence.

Silver Belt: A San Simon special to the Star reports fourteen hostile Indians south of the San Simon Cattle Company's ranch on the 12th, going in the direction of Stein's Peak range, and passed out of sight in Cowboy Pass.

Tucson Citizen: If the Cochise county grand jury will indict Geronimo and the members of his band, there will arise no question regarding the authority of the Board of Supervisors in offering a reward for their bodies dead or alive.

Nogales Frontier: The neighbors of Ymuri station, Sonora, report that a short time since a gang of thirty Apaches were seen taking a northeast direction. They were well equipped with provisions and war material, and with good riding animals.

Tucson Star: The Southern Pacific Railroad has received a notice to remove a regiment of soldiers from El Paso to Silver City. Three new regiments are expected from the Department of the Missouri in a few days, which looks as if something was about to be done.

Lordsburg Advance: We honor Lieut. Davis for his desire to sever his connection with the army, he is too much a soldier to gain any honor by such association. Only bid your time Lieutenant and your country will need your services yet, and in a field where merit and courage amounts to something in a soldier.

Nogales Frontier: Every county in Arizona should follow the example of Cochise, and offer a reward for hostile Apaches. This is a matter confined to no county or section, but every industry of the Territory is paralyzed, and there will never again be prosperity or progress so long as there is known to be a hostile Apache on the land.

Deming Headlight: The report is confirmed that a few days ago the body of a Mexican who had been killed by Indians in Ramos, fifteen miles from Corralitos, was brought in by four Mexicans. These are all that remain of a band of 14 who went out after the Indians. Only one Mexican is known to have been killed, but it is supposed that the remaining nine were surprised and killed by the Indians. It is said that these Indians belong to the band that left the San Carlos reservation recently.

Gazette: We learn from Robt. J. Holmes, who resides on the Verde, that a short time since that section was visited by a water-spout which deluged the country. Succeeding the water-spout came a heavy hail storm. Mr. Holmes further states that the ranch of his neighbor, Col. Rountree, has been visited by no less than six water-spouts during the summer. These visitations have been confined to an area of about six miles square, the country outside having suffered from the drought prevalent elsewhere.
